The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claim(s) 9-18 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Klatt (4510906).

As to claims 9, 15, Klatt discloses:

A method for signaling several items of information relevant for operating a motor vehicle, comprising:

representing different items of information by unambiguous haptic signals at different positions of a control element of the vehicle; forming the different items of information by different fuel consumption values; ([2, 32-62]; [3, 1-15]; [1, 43-60]);

respectively representing the different fuel consumption values by a characteristic of one of the haptic signals on the control element having a maximum at the associated position of the control element; and ascertaining the one of the haptic signals as a function of a consumption per unit of distance using a characteristics function ([2, 32-62]; [1, 43-60]).

As to claims 10, 16, Klatt discloses:

the haptic signals have a maximum [2, 32-62].

As to claims 11, 17, Klatt discloses:

the control element includes an accelerator pedal [2, 1-20].

As to claims 12, 18, Klatt discloses:

the characteristic of the one of the haptic signals includes a saw-tooth-shaped characteristic ([2, 32-62]; [3, 1-15]).

As to claim 13, Klatt discloses:

further comprising: specifying at least one of the fuel consumption values using an input unit ([2, 32-62]; [1, 44-60]); at some point, a consumption value was inputted into the system).

As to claim 14, Klatt discloses:

further comprising: forming the one of the haptic signals by a restoring a force acting on the control element [2, 32-62].
